

INMAN FAMILY WINES PINOT NOIR, RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

100% Pinot Noir. Bright garnet color. Aromas of dark black cherry, tart plum, black vanilla tea, saffras and baking spices. Warm red fruit dominates the flavor profile. Mouthwatering acidity makes this a fabulous food wine. Layers of ripe cherry, dried cranberry and rhubarb combine with notes of cinnamon and an earthy minerality. Silky and medium bodied, with fine tannins. Elegant, finessed and well balanced, with a long cranberry zing finish that lingers.

Inman is committed to environmentally responsible, sustainable farming practices in their vineyard and to natural winemaking techniques in their production facility. They practice “Sensitive and Sustainable Farming” methods, along with harvesting techniques based on the “Importance of Properly Ripened Fruit”—all of which makes for consistent quality. The fruit for this wine is sourced from three vineyards.

Fifty percent comes from organically-farmed vineyards in neighboring Russian River Valley; the rest comes from their estate’s Olivet Grange Vineyard (OGV), and Ted Klopp’s Thorn Ridge Ranch, both of which combine to create responsible the soul of the wine.

Founded in 1999 by Kathleen and Simon Inman, Inman Family wines are committed to quality from the grape to the glass – from their sensitive, organic viticultural practices to their attention to detail in winemaking. From the outset, Inman has been committed to environmentally responsible, sustainable farming practices in their vineyard and to natural winemaking techniques in their carbon-neutral production facility. This approach is designed to ensure that Inman Family wines express the true character of the grape and place from which they come.
