

OENO WINES

CHARDONNAY, RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

100% Chardonnay. A vibrant and refreshing chardonnay. Filled with bright citrus and luscious pear flavors. Crisp, dry finish. Organic.

Planted in the late 1980s, the Oak Bench Block Vineyard is planted on a north to south orientation, taking full advantage of this region's midday sun balanced by daily drops in temperature and frequent fog. One third of the wine did not go through malolactic fermentation, preserving this Chardonnay's fresh apple aroma and flavor. Whole cluster pressed, native fermentation, unfinned and unfiltered.

Founded in 2012, OENO (ee-no) is owned by Amy Atwood, who also operates a wine import and distribution company, Amy Atwood Selections (launched in 2009), a company that champions sustainably produced natural and organic wines. With a long history in the wine world, she worked for 15 years at wholesalers and importers, during which time her passion for wine grew, as did her concerns about sustainability and the fact that organic viticultural and winemaking practices weren't being employed at many of the larger operations in the industry. OENO sources fruit from top quality vineyards in Sonoma, California, and ferments and bottles it as natural wine under her strict specifications (pristine fruit, native yeasts and neutral oak) in Healdsburg.

Oeno is the ancient Greek word for wine, as well as the name of a goddess known for turning water into wine.
