

FAMILIA SCHROEDER MALBEC, SAURUS SELECT

100% Malbec. Deep violet red color with ruby highlights. Complex aromas of ripe red fruits such as currants, plums and sour cherries, plus spice notes with a touch of vanilla and coffee. The palate has a very good entry, with sweet, juicy tannins. A persistent and elegant wine. Named as a tribute to the recent discovery of fossils from a new species of dinosaurs in Patagonia. The Titanosaurus, an enormous dinosaur that weighed about 80 tons, the equivalent of 14 grown elephants, dwarfed even the Argentinosaurus, the previous largest known species of dinosaur on Earth. Located in the San Patricio Valley of Chañar, Patagonia Argentina, at 39° south latitude and 33 miles from the city of Neuquén, is a new viticultural zone of the country and the world. Here are incomparable conditions that make this a special region for the cultivation of a wide variety of grape varieties with a Patagonian profile. Stony soil, abundant melt water, wide temperature difference between hot days and cool nights, frequent winds and low humidity. All grapes are harvested by hand. 40% remain 12 months in oak barrels, the remaining are stored in stainless steel tanks to preserve the fruit.

The Schroeder family, of European origin and deeply rooted in Patagonia, is known for its sustained entrepreneurial profile. Perseverance and excellence characterize this family of pioneering visionaries. From the beginning of the 20th century, they began to forge a dream of greatness in these lands. The winery, which covers 300 acres, saw its inception in October 2002. In the last decade they have dedicated with passion, tireless efforts to turn these arid and inhospitable lands into a cutting-edge viticultural center, at the level of the world's leading wineries.
