"The nose is incredibly clean & focused, fresh & with a mixture of wild berries & herbs, flowers too. The palate is light & fresh, with unnoticeable tannins but with the textured mouthfeel provided by the granite with great grip..." Luis Gutierrez (3/27/17)

"Fermented & aged in clay amphorae, this cinsault comes from the top of a hill in Guariligüe, near the Itata coast... This is serious cinsault, its tea-leaf & earth aromas finely integrated into a layer of tart red fruit. While that fruit is crisp & vibrant, the depths of flavor are profound. All in all, it's a pleasure to drink, refreshing & charming."
