

ERIC BORDELET NOUVELLE VAUGE SIDRE NORMANDY CIDER

Normandy Apple Cider made from the Kermeria Apple. Copper colored. Sparkling, fresh and light. Aromas of fresh red and rose apples, sulfur, citrus and herbs. Thirst quenching and gulpable. Juicy with slight bitterness, lovely balance. Creamy and sour with a fruity aftertaste. Strikes the right balance between brut and demi-sec. Nouvelle Vague (New Wave) is aptly named! Created to be drunk like a beer, pleasure guaranteed! Organic.

The vineyards cover 57 acres in southern Normandie and have been under organic cultivation since 1996. Thirty varieties of apples, twenty varieties of pears and eight varieties of cormes are grown. Manual harvesting, selective according to the maturity of the fruit from September to December due to a large number of varieties. Processing respecting each fruit (for the final balance), assembled, coarsely ground, delicately pressed, racking and racking of the juice. Ancestral fermentation in tanks and bottled over several weeks or months depending on the cuvées with more or less residual natural sugars.

Eric is a former sommelier, who returned home to take over the family estate in his native Norman countryside in 1992. His approach to making cider and perry is influenced by his experience with wine, with strict control of yields and gentle pressing to preserve the nuances of the fruit. He focuses on purity and precision, and letting the terroir speak through the fruit. He has been lionized in publications as diverse as The Art of Eating and the New York Times.

AN EASTERLY WINE SELECTION • BELFAST, ME

Tasting Note:

ERIC BORDELET SIDRE NOUVELLE VAUGE NORMANDY CIDER

From the Kermeria Apple. Sparkling, fresh & light; aromas of fresh apples, sulfur, citrus & herbs; thirst quenching & gulpable; juicy with slight bitterness; lovely balance; creamy & sour with a fruity aftertaste. Organic.

Shelf Talker:

ERIC BORDELET NOUVELLE VAUGE NORMANDY CIDER

Normandy Apple Cider made from the Kermeria Apple. Copper colored. Sparkling, fresh & light. Aromas of fresh red & rose apples, sulfur, citrus & herbs. Thirst quenching & gulpable. Juicy with slight bitterness. Lovely balance. Creamy & sour with a fruity aftertaste. Strikes the right balance between brut & demi-sec. Nouvelle Vague (New Wave) is aptly named! Created to be drunk like a beer, pleasure guaranteed! Organic.

AN EASTERLY WINE SELECTION