JOLIE-LAIDE TROUSSEAU GRIS, FANUCCHI-WOOD ROAD, SONOMA COUNTY

100% Trousseau Gris. These rare, near extinct vines produce unique and fascinating fruit. In turn, the wine made from them is equally beguiling. Light and pretty, wildly floral yet savory with a visceral depth. An inebriating blend of wild pomelo, summer melon, stone fruit, white tea, wet rock and sweet earth all weave with finessed length and elegant palate presence.

Some skin contact lends an incandescent, roseate hue, breadth of palate and subtle tannin. Crushed by foot and left to macerate whole cluster for a few days, then pressed and naturally fermented in neutral puncheons and stainless steel followed by all neutral barrique elevage.

Jolie-Laide, founded in 2010 by Scott and Jenny Schultz is a small art house winery based out of Sonoma County, California. The name translates loosely to Pretty-Ugly, a French term of endearment to describe something that is unconventionally beautiful. The duo are co-owners, co-operators and co-winemakers who amassed years of critical working experience at many reputable wineries both in California and internationally. Considered avant-garde for challenging the status quo and respected as the vanguard of the "New California"-a movement to bring a more European sensibility of natural winemaking and championing unique yet classic varieties that are relatively unknown here in the United States. Their winemaking ethos is simple: low intervention, naturally minded and less is more. It is their unique ability to seek out spectacular vineyardstriangulating cooler sites, compelling soils and working with pioneering growers, leading to consistently delicious wines. As Scott says, "The do-nothing approach isn't new by any means; it's just funny how far many have gotten away from it."
