

BODEGA PIEDRA FLUIDA TENERIFE TINTO

100% Black Listán, 80+ year-old vines. Vivid aromatics of myrtle, spices, licorice, black pepper and black and red fruits. The palate reveals juicy, soft tannins, crunchy minerality and a zesty, lively character. With abundant red fruit and a touch of spice, this wine is vibrant and expressive, perfect for sharing with friends. Will age gracefully for at least six years.

The grapes come from two farms in Santa Úrsula, in the Tacoronte-Acentejo region of Tenerife Island, one of the Canary Islands in Spain. El Farroillo (planted 80 years ago) at 600 m and Tamaide (planted 25 years ago) at 550 m. The grapes are transported to the winery in crates. Destemmed and pressed. Alcohol fermentation in vats at a controlled temperatures. After 5-7 days, once fermentation is complete, it is removed from the vats and after decanting is aged in new French and American oak casks for malolactic fermentation.

Bodega Piedra Fluida, established with its inaugural 2018 harvest, is located in Tenerife, Canary Islands, Spain. The winery is part of founder Félix Becker's broader strategy to protect and strengthen the conservation of the natural environment in the Canary Islands. The vineyards, situated at elevations up to 1,687 meters, are among the highest in Europe. The winery focuses on indigenous grape varieties, including Listán Blanco and Listán Negro, sourced from ungrafted vines over 60 years old. Emphasizing organic and ecological practices, Bodega Piedra Fluida produces wines that reflect the unique volcanic terroir of the region.
