From Pauillac, a subregion of the Médoc on Bordeaux's Left Bank. Aged 12 to 18 months in French oak barrels.

Domaine de Saint-Guirons is owned by the Borie family, one of the most important and ancient wine families in Bordeaux. They're also owners of iconic Bordeaux 5th growth Château Grand-Puy Lacoste, recognized as one of the greatest wines of Pauillac and located just three miles from the illustrious Château Mouton Rothschild. François-Xavier Borie has transformed Domaine de Saint-Guirons into a beacon of quality and refinement. Since taking over in 1978, François-Xavier Borie and his family have completely renovated the chateau and its cellars. Through years of hard work and technical innovation, they have continually improved the wine quality, making each vintage a more refined expression of the unique terroir.
