"What a complex wine for an entry-level dry riesling. A wealth of fresh herbs, stone fruit & delicate citrus aromas.

On the barely medium-bodied palate, it has a striking stony minerality as well as a wonderful vibrancy from the spirtz of natural carbon dioxide. For this category there's astonishing length & purity. From organically grown grapes."

"...[C]lear, pure, fresh & finely flinty on the nose... Intense, dense & saline on the palate, this is a full-bodied, crystalline & persistently saline Riesling that is analytically dry but pretty rich &, luckily, also vital due to its complexity & drive on the long, mineral finish. This is a stunning Rheingau estate wine." (August 2024.)
